Mallison-Waldeck.

Samuel T. Mallison, city editor of the Telegram, has again demonstrated his widely established ability to "scoop" the other fellow. In the news line he always has a few surprises up his sleeve, and he is continually springing some worth while. It is needless to say he did not let Thanksgiving day go by without one of these surprises, although the newspaper did not issue that day. Naturally, one would suppose that it was about the big football game at Fairmont revealing the real cause why the Methodist boys did not take the honors instead of the state eleven's taking the same. But, it was nothing of the sort. To the contrary it concerned something vastly more important to himself at least, something of a lifetime nature, as the following announcement sent out Thanksgiving day shows:

"Mr. and Mrs. Boyd B. Waldeck announce the marriage of their daughter
"Nellie Virginia to
"Mr. Samuel Thomas Mallison
"on Wednesday, November twenty-fourth
"one thousand nine hundred and fifteen
"Clarksburg, West Virginia."

The ceremony was solemnized at 3 o'clock Wednesday evening in the First Methodist Episcopal parsonage by the Rev. W. B. King.

As Mr. Mallison is a member of the Telegram's editorial staff, as already stated, this newspaper feels that it should be extremely modest in its reference to him, but at the same time the event is such a happy one that it feels that it should not let it go by with only casual mention. The bridegroom is a young newspaper man of unusual ability and his career in newspaperdom has already been crowned with great success. As a writer he shows exceptional ability and he has attained recognition from national publications, a notable instance being the recent publication in Puck of his contributions. He is clever not only in his newspaper and literary work but also in all phases of the walks of life and since his coming to Clarksburg two years ago from Rocky Mount, N. C., the home of his parents, he has made and kept a host of friends and won the confidence and warm friendship of all with whom he has come in contact.

The bride is a member of one of Clarksburg's oldest and best known families. Until recently she held a responsible position with the Central District Telephone Company. In such position she formed a wide acquaintanceship and won the friendship, confidence and esteem of the business public. She is a young lady possessing all the charms of noble womanhood and is quite popular in a wide circle of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Mallison will go to housekeeping shortly here.

The Woman's Missionary Society of St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church, South, held its monthly business meeting on a recent evening at the home of Mrs. Robert Kempke, 203 Oak street. At the close of the business session the ladies "got busy" with their needles and spent a few hours doing fancy work for the bazaar to be held December 10 and 11. Mesdames Looman, Kempke, Wade, Vance and Miss Spiker rendered some excellent music which was enjoyed by all present. Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Bratten.

Mr. Fleegle is a Baltimore and Ohio conductor residing at 276 Maryland avenue, Cumberland. Hathaway-Jones. Mr. Frank M. Hathaway, of Clarksburg, and Miss Margaret Ella Jones, of Mannington, were united in marriage at Fairmont Wednesday evening by the Rev. C. E. Goodwin, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church. The ceremony was performed in the parsonage. The bride is a well known graduate nurse, who has followed her profession in Mannington and Fairmont for the last several years. She is a graduate of the former City hospital in Fairmont. Mrs. Hathaway is a splendid young woman with many admiring friends. The bride and bridegroom will take up their residence in Clarksburg.

At the close of the ceremony at the church a wedding breakfast was served at the home of Mrs. Margaret Mulheran. White chrysanthemums were used in the floral decorations of the table and covers were laid for twelve guests. Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. Sumner Stuart and Miss Margaret Stuart, of Morgantown. Mr. and Mrs. Mulheran are spending their honeymoon trip in Buckhannon.

With tremendous financial support back of them, who wish us to lay down our arms and become virtually a fourth or fifth power in the family of nations, instead of maintaining our strong position so we may stand a friend of the weak and enabled to demand that peace may prevail at least in the western hemisphere.

"I wish to thank you very much for your response to our appeal and acceptance as a member of the state committee. It is such loyal response from patriotic American women that is enabling us to make this a truly national movement among American women."

The resolutions referred to in Miss Poe's letter are as follows and are published by request of Miss Atchison:

Be it resolved that we call upon all American citizens, who by birth or naturalization, have come into the inheritance of citizenship, to place America first in their lives and hearts.

Adopted. We also call on all American citizens, in loyalty and gratitude for the liberties of America, and in token of their unswerving allegiance to the principles for which the flag stands, to pay all honor and reverence to the American flag, and to do all in their power to prevent its desecration or abuse.

We offer our hearty co-operation to all organizations which are endeavoring to secure adequate legislation to protect and honor the American flag.

Adopted. Be it resolved that the Woman's National Defense Conference of the Woman's Section of the Navy League thank President Wilson, Speaker Champ Clark, the secretary of war, the secretary of the navy and other officials for the patriotic stand they have taken for national defense. Be it resolved that the Woman's Section of the Navy League in conference assembled, calls upon the president of the United States and both houses of Congress and other public servants of the Nation, to do all that lies in their power to provide sufficient national defense to protect this country from invasion and the threat of war.

And be it further resolved that copies of this resolution be sent to the president of the United States, the president of the Senate, the speaker of the House of Representatives, the secretary of war and the secretary of the navy.

As Gilmer County Grand Jury Fails to Indict Her for the Murder of a Child.

GLENNVILLE, Nov. 26.—Miss Ora Wilson, a school teacher of Clay county, charged with the murder of her infant child in Gilmer county, was given her freedom Thanksgiving day, the grand jury having failed to present an indictment. Miss Wilson had been imprisoned in the Glennville jail about three months.

It will be remembered that the body of an infant, a boy about six weeks old, was found floating in the Little Kanawha river just below the Braxton county line, by a deputy sheriff. At a coroner's inquest it was determined that the babe came to its death by drowning and the crime was traced to Miss Wilson. She was seen at Burnsville the day before with a child, and the day after the finding of the body she was at her home in Clay county, and the child was missing. She was arrested and placed in the Glennville jail. Before the grand jury no witnesses were found who had ever seen the mother and the child in Gilmer county.

A case that attracts unusual attention among attorneys will be tried here during the present term of the circuit court. It is that of John Hooper, charged with incest. Hooper and his sister have only recently moved to Gilmer county. The child was born two months after the removal, the couple having come from Lewis county. The question is to be determined by the court is the place of the commission of the crime. Hooper was indicted at this sitting of the grand jury.

Clarence Parker was placed on trial in the circuit court here for the murder of Edwin Miller. At a former trial the jury failed to agree, nine being for acquittal and three for conviction. The trouble that led up to the shooting was over a line fence between the farms of the two. Parker claims the shooting was in self defense.
